

The Republican.

MARCH 7, 1885.

The Birmingham Chronicle says of the crop lien repeal:

The repeal of the crop lien law seems likely to withdraw a large amount of capital from the "advancing business." The advertisement in our exchanges show that many merchants have determined to withdraw from the business altogether. The merchants say that the withdrawal of the protection of the lien law will put them to a greater cost and more risk, and they prefer to close out their accounts and turn their money to other uses. The question will thus come up at once as to whether the farmer will be benefited by the contraction of the volume of credit and money heretofore at his disposal.

It is to be hoped that this is so. The capital of the far larger part of Alabama is, in one way or another, wholly devoted to the one thing, the crop of cotton. This is wrong. If the repeal of the crop lien shall withdraw a large part of this money and put it into other channels, it will have justified its passage. And the resulting withdrawal will make the farmer more independent by throwing him upon his own resources. He will become more industrious, frugal and prudent—will manufacture a solid credit to take the place of the artificial substitute the law has afforded him.—Selma Times.

Thus the "doctors disagree" as to the effects of this law. Thanks to Senator Alexander, who took Calhoun out of the repeal bill when it reached the Senate; this county can watch the experiment in other counties; and, as we have heretofore said, if the repeal of the crop lien proves a good thing for them Calhoun can fall into line with them at the next meeting of the Legislature. If it proves to be a bad thing, we can hold on to the crop lien as we have it now.

The Montgomery Advertiser thinks the recent amendment to the prohibition law of this county has overreached itself, because of its stringency, and that this will prove its overthrow. This is the opinion of many well informed people. The law is objectionable for two reasons apart from this. 1st. It fosters the despicable informer for pay. 2nd. The people were not consulted as to whether they wanted it, as they were in the case of the law it amends.

As we go to press, we learn of the death of Mrs. Nannie Reese, which occurred at White Plains, Wednesday evening last. She was 36 years of age at the time of her death. She was a most estimable lady. Her death will be mourned by a very large circle of friends and relatives.

Wednesday the Democrats walked into possession of the Government amid the most imposing inaugural ceremonies this country has ever witnessed.

Senator Morgan and Representative Wm. H. Forney, were members of the Congressional committee on inaugural ceremonies.

President Cleveland's inaugural address is highly commended in all quarters for its sound sense and pure patriotism.

The new Democratic government will guard the rights and interests of all classes, races and conditions.

The procession at Washington on inauguration day was five miles long.

Good morning President Cleveland!

Destroyed by worms. Can we imagine a more horrible death? Gnawing, gnawing, gnawing, night and day until the vitals are eaten away. Shiner's Indian Vermifuge will destroy and eject those disgusting creatures from the intestines. Ask for Shiner's Indian Vermifuge.

THE INAUCTION.

WASHINGTON, Mar. 4.—[Special.] That inauguration days always ugly was beautifully contradicted today. It seemed that May had lent her charms to March. The bright warm sunshine, the mild south wind and temperature that would have done Florida credit, added incalculably to the pleasure of the vast multitude which gathered to see the democracy return to power after twenty-four years exile from its highest station. How many people there were in Washington today it is impossible to say, but it is believed that there was one visitor for every one of the two hundred thousand people who live here. From early morning to midnight the splendid avenues were packed solid with people. The street cars were stopped entirely, and vehicles could hardly work their way along. Yet there was the most perfect order and promptness in all the arrangements. Such a gigantic pageant was probably never before so smoothly managed. General Slocum, grand marshal of the day, is highly praised for this result of his skillful command.

SEEKING POINTS OF VANTAGE.

By ten o'clock a steady stream began to pour toward the capitol, without appearing to diminish the crowds down town, which were increased by the trains arriving every few minutes. Fifty thousand people paid fifty cents and a dollar each for seats on the raised platforms overlooking the line of march. They looked down upon a far larger crowd swaying on the sidewalks and avenues beneath. Every window from which a glimpse of the procession could be had, was held at enormous prices, or enjoyed by its fortunate owners and their friends. Admission to the capitol was a privilege permitted only by ticket. These were distributed to congressmen. As high as fifty dollars was offered for them by persons who had more money than influence with the statesmen.

THE GRANT EPISODE.

The assembly in the senate chamber was composed of representative ladies and gentlemen of the United States. When General Hancock entered in major general's uniform he was the recipient of an enthusiastic ovation. The next stir was caused by a message from the house announcing the passage of the Grant bill. The diplomatic corps entered shortly after, with a dazzling array of insignia, which was in striking contrast to the republican simplicity of our own dignitaries all around them. President Arthur was politely applauded when he appeared in his faultless attire. Old man Bassett, who has served as senate messenger fifty-four years, as the hands of the clock neared 12, performed his famous feat of turning them back twenty minutes.

THE ARRIVAL OF CLEVELAND.

Few people in the great assembly hall had ever seen Cleveland, and his arrival was awaited somewhat impatiently. When he appeared the voice of the messenger who announced him was drowned in the burst of cheers, which Mr. Edmunds vainly tried to suppress. His composure was noticed by all as he bowed to congress and the galleries in recognition of this magnificent reception. Mr. Hendricks had a full share of the honors here and elsewhere throughout the day.

DELIVERING THE INAUGURAL.

When the president went out upon the platform in front of the capitol he was greeted by deafening cheers from two hundred thousand persons, who covered several acres in front of him. He delivered his inaugural in a clear, deliberate tone, without manuscript. A small card held in the left hand contained the topics and occasionally he glanced at it. After his taking the oath there was a still louder burst of enthusiastic cheers, and various demonstrations of joy among the delighted denizens.

THE MARCH TO THE WHITE HOUSE.

The march down Capitol hill and to the white house was the superlative pageant ever witnessed in Washington. The procession was over three hours in passing, and numbered fully thirty thousand, with fifty-two brass bands. Its progress was marked by one continuous cheer, as the presidential carriage passed along. As some favorite company or club passed the demonstrations were renewed. General Fitzhugh Lee, who commanded the second division, received honors second only to those of Cleveland and Hendricks. He was dressed in a grey uniform of the Virginia militia, mounted on a splendid bay, and attended by a large staff. He was compelled to ride bareheaded for several squares on Pennsylvania avenue, in constant recognition of the cheers of the men and the waving of handkerchiefs by the ladies in a thousand windows. As he passed Sixth street the band in advance struck up Dixie, and there was an indescribable scene. Men threw their hats in the air, and flags and handkerchiefs waved from every window for two squares, while a great glad shout went up in honor of Lee from northern and southern throats alike.

THE AUGUSTA TROOPS.

The Augusta troops were cheered as they passed the Georgia headquarters at the Metropolitan hotel. The number of negro companies in line was very large, and the negroes along the line of march joined in the demonstrations with great enthusiasm. The colored Democratic company from Charleston attracted special attention. Tannum with its thousand men led the civil orders. One of its subdivisions in disguise, the Knickerbocker, made a feature in the procession. Among all the clubs, the county democracy, of New York, bore of the palm for perfect drill and handsome attire. They were headed by Gilmore's band of one hundred pieces.

THE END OF THE PROCESSION.

The review in front of the white house, where President Cleveland received and returned the salutes of all the organizations, ended this unprecedented inaugural procession. Four years ago the procession which followed Garfield to the white house surpassed in size and splendor all its predecessors. To-day there were nearly twice as many men in line, and the show was far more brilliant.

THE NIGHT DEMONSTRATIONS.

After the procession disbanded the multitude was regaled with volunteer processions up and down the avenues until seven o'clock, when the burst of fire in the sky attracted attention toward Washington monument, where a gorgeous display of pyrotechnics was given. The inaugural ball, now in progress at the pension building, is a scene of unprecedented splendor. The decorations are simply magnificent, and the enormous ballroom looks like some pleasure dome of poet's dream. Fifteen thousand tickets have been sold at five dollars each. A thousand more could be sold to-night, but the number was limited by the committee. Ten and fifteen dollars are freely offered for tickets.

THE PLEASANT FEATURES OF THE DAY.

The most pleasant feature of the entire day is the good humor which has prevailed everywhere. Four hundred extra policemen were put on duty, and have had little to do. The good feeling between the sections is evident by many signs. The military mingled the blue and the gray in fraternal sympathy. Dixie and Yankee Doodle were equally cheered on the line of march. Lee, who wore the blue, and Hancock, who wore the gray, were the military heroes of the day.

President Cleveland will reunite the sections in his cabinet, and there is a feeling here to-night stronger than I ever saw it before, that the war is over. Cabinet speculation has ceased, because it is virtually known who will compose Cleveland's official family. To-morrow the senate will meet at noon, and go at once into executive session. The following names will be sent in as nominations for the cabinet and at once confirmed:

Thomas F. Bayard, of Delaware, Secretary of State.
Daniel Manning, of New York, Secretary of the Treasury.
Wm. C. Whitney, of New York, Secretary of the Navy.
Wm. C. Endicott, of Massachusetts, Secretary of War.
J. Q. C. Lamar, of Mississippi, Secretary of the Interior.
Wm. H. Vilas, of Wisconsin, Postmaster General.
A. H. Garland, of Arkansas, Attorney General. F. H. R.

The Anniston and Chattanooga Railroad.

From the Chattanooga Times.—W. G. Sears, the engineer who made the survey for the proposed railroad from this city to Anniston, said, in reply to a reporter's inquiries, that the distance from Chattanooga to Anniston was one hundred and twenty miles. From Crawfish springs to a point within fifteen miles of Anniston, the route surveyed passes over a continuous bed of red and brown hematite ore. South of Coosa river yellow pine exists in vast unbroken forests, while various species of hard woods are found along the line. In Coosa and Chattooga valleys the soil is fertile and produces good crops of cotton, grain and vegetables. The route crosses the East and West railroad, giving connections with the Coosa coal fields. At Anniston it connects with the Anniston and Atlantic railroad, which is narrow gauge.

This road is finished to within twelve miles of Goodwater, from which point there is a line of road that runs to Opelika. On the Anniston and Atlantic railroad fine quarries of marble and roofing slate exists. Along the proposed railroad are numerous sites for furnaces where excellent ores of both the brown and red varieties are accessible. As coal and limestone are abundant, there would be nothing to prevent iron from being made as cheaply along the line as anywhere in the south. The ore is very rich and yields a large per cent of tough iron, free from sulphur or phosphorus. If the money cannot be obtained to build and equip a broad gauge road, a narrow gauge can be constructed and equipped for $10,000 per mile. Such a road would connect with the narrow gauge system of Alabama, and could be made a paying investment. Below Anniston the Anniston and Atlantic extends into one of the finest coal fields in Alabama, and a railroad from Chattanooga would afford the merchants here opportunity to compete with Atlanta for the trade that is springing up in that mining region of Georgia and Alabama.

Diabetes Cured.

New Orleans Pleasure, Jan. 20, 1885.
Mr. Mathias Doil, business place No. 23 North Peters street, residence Royal street, between Jeanne and Barbours, New Orleans, has been a most intense sufferer from kidney trouble (diabetes) for the last six long and weary years. He said to us: "Even earlier than that I frequently suffered from pain in the back, and frequent urinating of water, but gave it no thought until about a year ago, when the almost constant desire to make water became unendurable. The pain in the back, and sometimes in the legs, made me unable at times that I could scarcely walk. I consulted one of the best doctors in this city, and was under his constant treatment for one entire year without deriving the least benefit. I then consulted from time to time, during the last five or six years, six other physicians, each one standing in the front rank of the medical profession in New Orleans, and though I sometimes was relieved of some of my troubles, I was never cured. The whole I was not only no better, but in many respects much worse. My limbs became so swollen and sore that I could not cross my legs when sitting on a chair—all of which, they said, was caused by diabetes. I then tried some highly lauded patent medicine. But they all turned out to be humbugs. I had given up all hopes of ever getting relief, much less being cured, when I noticed in the papers some wonderful cures that PERUNA had made in this city, as prescribed by Dr. H. H. H. I was not only no better, but in many respects much worse. My limbs became so swollen and sore that I could not cross my legs when sitting on a chair—all of which, they said, was caused by diabetes. A Note of Warning to Suffering Humanity.
We feel that we would be wanting in the duty we owe to suffering humanity if we did not sound a note of warning in regard to the use of Mercury and other poisonous minerals in the treatment of Blood and Skin Diseases.

MARCH 14, 1885.

As soon as the acts of the Legislature are published in the official organ we will publish the road law in Madison, Talladega and Calhoun counties. The Secretary of State doubtless construes it to be a local law and hence it has not been published in the official organ at Montgomery. We think that a law affecting so much territory as that covering three of the most important counties of the State ought to be published by the official organ directly after the adjournment of the Legislature as the public acts are now published.

fixed fact that there will be no immediate changes in the offices except to fill vacancies. The presentation of one's claims for mere partisanship does not weigh in the feather. When vacancies occur, the President will fill them with Democrats, but until then his policy will be to let the incumbent hang on unless there are other than partisan charges against him. This policy will bring a wall throughout the land, and the President will, no doubt, be subjected to criticism. This he expects, but he thinks that in the end he will be sustained. It ought to be comforting to those at home

If there is any way of finding out the author of the false-shoot about Mr. Dixon, the Blount county Tax Collector, no effort should be left undone to do so. Here is a man placarded from one end of the Union to the other, as deliberately attempting to steal from his own house money belonging to his State and county, and of being shot and killed by his wife. There is not a shadow of a foundation for the story. Mr. Dixon was quietly attending to his business when the news was flashed over the wires. Is there no redress for such falsehoods as this? This is what the Joe Mullanbach style of newspaper enterprise leads to. No assassination is worse than that of private character, and no punishment is too great for the vile wretches guilty of it.—Montgomery Advertiser.

certain subjects and although ridiculous in the extreme, cannot be convinced of their error. One party may presume that the "mineral poisons" which afflict most of our "poorish mixtures" are poisoning the blood of the nation, and that revelations from the Abnity placed him in a special position to offer the only antidote. The "mineral poisons" which these conditions emanate from those of honest and pure motives, but are powerless to throw off the shackles which bind them. The friends and relatives of all such persons are urged to be vigilant and to be cured before more serious results are incurred. The actual and positive action of E. B. B. is of such nature as to convince any one of the unparalleled power given to the covering of blood poisons, scrofulous skin, swelling and inflammation, rheumatic affections, catarrh, leprosy, chronic ulcers and sores, &c., &c. THE VAGARIES OF THE LAW.

The E. T. V. & G. railroad has applied to the railroad commission for advice in the matter of the delivery of spirituous liquors in Calhoun county by common carriers.

Calhoun is a prohibition county and a common carrier is liable to indictment for the delivery of spirituous or intoxicating liquors. Now it appears a railroad company may be sued for carrying a package to discover its contents. If they refuse to carry it without examination then they may be sued for refusing to carry it on their line as common carriers.

Thus it seems a common carrier is liable for damages should he discover the character which it is unlawful for him to carry and refuse it. Should he refuse without knowledge of its contents he is also liable for damages. Should he neither discover the contents or refuse to carry it he may be punished for not making the discovery and for carrying a prohibited article.

The commission advises that where no reasonable ground exists to cause suspicion against the package at the shipping point, the railroad should receive it and deliver it because "the thing done is right and proper" in the ordinary course of the business of a railroad.

Experiences loom up from many quarters betraying the great hazards the country runs from the incompetency of law-makers.—Birmingham Age.

It sounds a little singular to hear Senator Edmunds talking in the Senate about resisting the coercion of States of a Republic. Has the Senator so soon forgotten the war in this country fought on his side on the distinct principle of coercion?

An Oxford correspondent, under date of March 13 says: "Oxford is on a considerable boom for the last two weeks, with country wagons after supplies and marketing the remainder of the cotton. The street car line is putting in full time and is a paying institution."

We prefer not to publish what the correspondent has to say of the dispute between the town council and the newspaper published in that town.

The influence of Mr. Randall with the administration is daily becoming more and more apparent, both in the defeat of some men for position and the appointment of others. It is noted that Phil Thompson, defeated for Commissioner of Internal Revenue was objectionable to him, while Judge Durham, appointed first commissioner of the treasury, and Malcolm Hay, appointed first assistant Postmaster General, and Martin V. Montgomery, the new Commissioner of Patents, are all strong friends of Randall.

In the death of Mrs. Herbert, wife of Hon. H. A. Herbert, of the Montgomery district, Alabama loses one of the most accomplished women in the state, and probably the one best known to the country at large. Marked tokens of respect were paid her memory in the National Capital last Saturday. Selma was the birthplace and original home of this lady, and our people sympathize most deeply with her bereaved husband.—Selma Times.

The Washington correspondent of the Montgomery Advertiser says: "I hear that our well known citizens of Alabama will be applicants for high positions under the administration. An order was issued by the minister to Mexico, to send to that country Belzoni, who wants to be made the Director of Columbia, or master of ceremonies at the White House; several want to be district attorneys in the various territories; and over so many will be applicants for consular posts, so I learn from various sources. Somebody is likely to be disappointed, and he will have a wise man who will not set his heart on any place within Cleveland's gift. There will be, at the very lowest calculation, and an average of ten applicants for every office."

An exchange has the following advice, which is of great value and every man who reads it should read it and profit by it. "We would advise our readers, in every body, to get a home business map as soon as possible. Keep the money circulated in your own community, for not a dollar is spent away from home that can be spent in your town. Because less you have some time or other been around here, for our business men, and it is not reasonable that you should spend your money with them. Let it stay in your town."

Col. B. F. Sawyer of the Alabama Tribune was in Jacksonville Thursday and gave the Republican an office call.

Humiliation of the Office-seekers.

Special to the Montgomery Advertiser.
WASHINGTON, March 16.—The rush for office is abating somewhat. The President's delay in making changes in the important administrative positions has had the effect of disheartening those who seek smaller offices. It has also made them mad. Heartburnings and anger, despair and chagrin are the feelings which move the unthinking multitude. They refuse to realize the slowness with which our governmental machinery moves. They see only stubbornness and a desire to please the alleged Civil Service in the President's delay, and it is not strange that they feel a little sore.

The various members of the Cabinet, as well as the President, have been having a hard time of it, but they are gradually learning to shut off the daily mob of callers.

Having business with the Postmaster General the other day, I called at the Department and was shown into the anteroom which serves as a sort of parlor. The room was full of all manner of humanity, cranks being largely in the majority. Among the latter was Dr. Mary Walker, conspicuous by her diminutiveness and her fan's attire. She remarked that she had urgent business with Mr. Vilas and that she was in a fearful hurry. The colored messenger took her card into the inner sanctum and soon returned with a message from the Postmaster General to the effect that Dr. Mary might call next week. One after another of the more important visitors were similarly disposed of, and then the messenger announced to the decimated mob that Mr. Vilas was willing that they should file through his office and shake his hand, but they would not be allowed to stop a moment. This was received with grunts of dissatisfaction more or less loud, and one fellow exploded with the remark that he "didn't care a darn to shake the fellow's hand," he meant business. The other cabinet ministers have adopted similar tactics, and very soon they will be able to devote themselves in some measure to government business.

Oxford News.

Dr. John B. McCain was duly elected mayor of Oxford last week by a vote of 93 to 92, against Mr. T. T. Hilton. I was the large vote ever polled in a similar election by twenty odd votes. To avoid a threatened contest Dr. McCain tendered his resignation and another election was ordered under the new charter for next Monday, for the office of mayor. It is rumored that Dr. McCain's friends will run him again, and that Mr. J. H. Hanna will be his opponent this time.

Whispering seems to be the predominant element in the present municipal campaign of Oxford. Mr. Hanna says that he is not a candidate for the office of mayor but thinks some of his friends will run him any way.

Some of the B. H.'s and enemies of Dr. McCain are endeavoring to make it appear that he will compete at the Blind Tiger traffic affected. This is entirely "no transparent." His former record proves to the contrary. It is said that there never was a man filled in office more creditably than he did when Mayor of this town.

Oxford is rapidly coming to the front and will soon lay aside her village vesture to don the robes of a Metropolis. 190 votes in a municipal election betokens a goodly population.

Cotton is still coming into this market quite freely. There was nearly thirty bales on the streets at one time last Wednesday.

Florida sweet potatoes is one of the luxuries that the inhabitants of Oxford are indulging in at the present time.

The spring past that loves to sing of leopards and the colors that seem the twilight hour, should make a stroll in this neighborhood of the granite warehouses of this place some dark and murky even.

Miss Fannie Stanford is getting up a petition which most of our citizens have signed to secure the Post Office. It is hoped that she will be successful as she is deserving and well fitted for the place.

Office Not So Excited.

"Your letter received. In reply I am happy to say that Parker, H. A. Baskin did much more for me than you said it would, or than I expected. My hair has not only stopped falling out, but the bald spots are all covered, and all my hair has grown thicker, softer and more lively than it was before my sickness a year ago. Thank you again and again." Extract from letter of Mr. R. W. T. West Fifty Third Street, New York.

A Lost Officer Holder.

Washington Cor. Advertiser.
About a year ago an Alabama man applied for the position of Government timber agent of that State, and through Senator Pugh's influence he obtained what he desired. His letter of application was turned over to the Secretary of the Interior and in some manner his post-office address was lost. The Secretary, however, wrote down the name of an Alabama postoffice supposed to be the applicant's address, and to that place the proper papers were sent for the applicant's signature. The papers were returned with the information that the person for whom they were intended did not reside in that vicinity. Then Senator Pugh, failing to hear from the man, set about to find him and he has spent no efforts in that direction, but all in vain. The office has been declared vacant and Secretary Lamar has filled it by appointing Major Seibles. The position pays at least $1,000, and is one of the strangest cases on record.

Dixon, the slandered Blount county tax collector, is not satisfied with a suit against "The Chattanooga Times" for $10,000 for damages he has begun another of $25,000 against "The Age" of Birmingham. "The Age" in the same issue with the publication of the floating item stated that it was probably not true. It seems very likely that Dixon will have the costs to pay in his several suits. He should go for the first wrongdoer, the United Press.—Selma Times.

There has been considerable change made in several law firms in Jacksonville within the past two weeks. The firm of Brothers & Willet has been changed by the addition of ex-Railroad Commissioner Crook as a member of the firm. The firm of Ellis & White-side and the firm of Bishop, Stevenson & Hanna, has been dissolved and a new firm formed by the partnership of Messrs Ellis & Stevenson. Our column of law cards will show these changes in this issue.

Full line of table linens 10c. Sheetings closing out at cost, at Ullman Bros. Anniston.

We note from the Baltimore American, of the 15th inst., that the faculty of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of that city have assigned Dr. Jno. M. Crook of this place to the Woman's Hospital—Maternity for the ensuing year. This assignment is quite honorable to Dr. Crook and he speaks the high standing he has attained at the College.

The position is one very desirable in itself. The Woman's Hospital is the best Hospital in the city and is one of only a very few that pay the expenses of the physician in charge and a snug sum above. Dr. Crook graduated among the highest in his class of 1897. He expects to make the diseases of women a specialty and the position they conferred upon him furnishes him a fine field for thought, investigation and research.

A Bargain.

One horse wagon at $25.00. This is a bargain. Apply to JAMES NANNALLY, Jacksonville, Ala.

Good news to the ladies! New and beautiful embroidery! We received this week one hundred pieces of the newest patterns of Hamburg and Batiste edging and insertings. The prettiest patterns ever seen in this city—real beauties. They were bought at hard time prices and are cheaper than ever known. Call and examine. No trouble to show goods at Ullman Brothers, Anniston.

Buckler's Arnica Salve.

THE BEST SALVE in the world for Cuts, Bruises, Sores, Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Fever Sores, Tetter, Chapped Hands, Chilblains, Corns, and all Skin Eruptions, and positively cures Piles. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box.

A full line of gents hats, underwear, and shirts at cost at Ullman Bros., Anniston.

A Word of Caution.

As is usually the case where an article of true merit has attained a world-wide reputation by its wonderful results, as the celebrated Electric Bitters have done, certain unprincipled parties have endeavored to imitate them, and expect to purchase their fraudulent wares as Ask your druggist for the genuine Electric Bitters, that are guaranteed to cure, and take no others. Sold by all druggists at 50c.

Parties who find cures, other than iron ores, in the county, will do well to send specimens to this office.

Cross Plains Items.

Cross Plains is moving on quietly, yet there are signs of improvement all around. Several hand-some dwellings are going up in different parts of the town. While others are being treated to fresh coats of paint. Business seems to be pretty good.

The farmers in this section are industriously at work preparing for another crop. We are sorry, however, to see so much grain going out of town on wagons, but it seems that our farmers can't make a crop without it. They used to do it, however.

A good crop year is predicted and everybody has gone cheerfully to work. Let us hope that the most sanguine expectations of the people will be realized.

We hear much of the cry of hard times and scarcity of money now. It has become chronic with our people. Debt paying is out of style until another crop is made, and it seems to be generally understood that everybody is exonerated from paying up for the present. It is highly probable that this rule is earned too far with some.

The schools here are in a flourishing condition. Our citizens seem to appreciate the advantages they enjoy in this respect as the average daily attendance at the schools is much larger at present than at any previous time.

There is some talk of a new hotel building here—no doubt that we need it, and I wish there was more effort and less talk about it. A great many visitors are constantly stopping over with us, besides, we would have quite a number of summer visitors if we could offer suitable accommodations. The right man is in the right place but he feels the need of good building. We hope to see this enterprise started soon.

Since the amendment to our prohibitory statute went into effect there has been a marked absence of the "little brown jug" about our depot and Express office, but the boys manage to get "it" anyhow. The prevailing opinion is, that the law will be declared unconstitutional if a test case is made.

Grayton Dots.

With the beginning of the pleasant weather the farmers are beginning to prepare for a crop. They are laboring with untiring energy, and doubtless have some glowing hopes that they will reap an abundant harvest as the reward of their labors. We hope their anticipations will not be blighted by the coming fall by a bad crop.

T. S. Gray has just returned from Rome, Ga., and is now prepared to barter for eggs by the wholesale.

E. D. McFarquhar has recently finished himself a splendid residence, which adds greatly to the natural beauty of the city.

R. C. Hannah, student of Peek's academy visited our town Sunday last.

We visited Hebron some days ago. The young merchants there are bound to succeed. They have a good location and splendid business talent.

Mr. E. W. Towers was in the country, at church Sunday, on his return he stopped at home as usual.

Mr. R. P. Loyd's belle rings about three miles west of this place instead of Rome, Ga.

Rev.

Thousands of dollars can be saved by using proper judgment in taking care of the health of yourself and family. If you are Bilious, have a low complexion, poor appetite, low and depressed spirits, and generally debilitated, do not delay a moment, but go at once and procure a bottle of those wonderful Electric Bitters, which never fail to cure, and that for the trifling sum of fifty cents—Try them. Sold by all druggists at 50c.

Don't fail to call on Ullman Bros., Anniston, and you will save money.

A Little Gold was Spent.

Mr. Z. A. Clark, of Atlanta, Ga., in speaking of $480 in gold, desires to say to the readers of this paper, that the whole of the above amount was spent in a fruitless effort in finding relief from a terrible Blood Poison affecting his body, limbs and nose—presenting ugly running ulcers. He is now sound and well, having been cured by the most speedy and wonderful remedy ever before known, and any interested party who may need a Blood Purifier will learn from him that three bottles of B. B. B. restored his appetite, healed all ulcers, relieved his kidneys, and added twenty one pounds to his weight in thirty days.

His Loss was Her Gain.

"Well, madam," said a fashionable physician to a wealthy lady patient, "if you don't like my prescriptions, perhaps you had better try Parker's Tonic, or some other quack stuff." "You don't mean it, doctor," she answered, "but your advice may be good for all that. Sometimes what you call 'quack stuff' is the best and most scientific medicine of all." She got a bottle of Parker's Tonic and it cured her of neuralgia arising from disordered stomach and nerves. She told her friends, and now they all keep a doctor at home in the form of Parker's Tonic.

THE NEWSPAPER LOBBY.

IT MADE COLFAX VICE-PRESIDENT AND THEN DESERTED HIM.

From the New York Hour.

The late Schuyler Colfax was at one time the favorite of the newspaper correspondents in Washington. An old journalist, they were proud of his success in Congress, and it was mainly through their efforts that he was made Speaker of the House. For years and years his praise was sounded in nearly every newspaper in the country, and at the close of the angry administration of Andrew Johnson he was the most popular man in the Republican party for the Vice-Presidency, with General Grant for President.

On March, 1869, before Mr. Colfax had been a month in the chair of the Vice-President, he said to a correspondent, that "the correspondents must not in the future expect that he could visit them at their offices, the etiquette of his position forbidding any such concession on his part." Vice-President Colfax's name began to drop out of the special dispatches from the Capital, and when the Republican Convention which re-nominated General Grant met in Philadelphia in the summer of 1872, there appeared there a powerful "lobby" of resolute, bitter, vindictive, tireless newspaper men, working as one man against Colfax and in favor of Henry Wilson, of Massachusetts, as the candidate for the Vice-Presidency.

Mr. Colfax was strong. He was popular with the politicians. From the very start he had nearly one-half the delegates. Colfax, however, was beaten in the organization of the Convention, although neither he nor his friends knew it. Mr. Orr, of South Carolina, afterward Minister to Russia and now dead, and Judge Settle, of North Carolina, were the leading candidates for the Presidency of the Convention. Orr was supported by the Colfax party and Settle by those in favor of Wilson. In the caucus the contest between these gentlemen was a tie. The correspondents prevailed upon "Boss" Shepherd, of Washington, to change his vote, and Settle became President of the Convention. The understanding with Settle on the part of some of the correspondents was that if Colfax did not get the nomination on the first ballot, he would recognize the delegate to be selected by them before the vote was declared. Colfax and Wilson led all their competitors for the nomination, but neither had a majority. A wild scene followed the close of the roll-call. Fifty men were on their feet shouting for recognition at the President for the purpose of changing from one candidate to another. Settle kept his word and recognized the chairman of the Virginia delegation, a Mr. Popham. The delegation from that State had split its vote between Colfax and Wilson. Popham, without consulting his associates, threw the vote of Virginia solid for Wilson, and several of the other States followed her example. The Indiana men vainly endeavored to stem the tide. Wilson was nominated, and the Washington correspondents who had helped to make Colfax Speaker and Vice-President were mainly instrumental in unmaking him. He never forgave them.

The Reason Why.

My son, there's nothing on earth so mysteriously funny as a newspaper advertisement. The prime, first, last and all the time object of an advertisement is to draw custom. It is not, was not, and never will be designed for any other purpose. So the merchant waits till the busy season comes and his store is so full of custom he can't get his hat off and then he rushes to the newspapers and puts in his advertisement. When the dull season gets along and there is no trade, and he wants to sell goods so bad he can't pay his rent, he takes out his advertisement. That is, some of them do, but occasionally a level-headed merchant puts in a bigger one and scrapes all the business, while his neighbors are making mortgages to pay the gas bill. There are times when you couldn't stop people from buying everything in the store if you planted a cannon behind the door, and that's the time the advertisement is sent out on its holy mission. It makes light work for the advertiser, for a check sign on the sidewalk could do all that was needed and have half a holiday six days in the week, but who wants to favor an advertisement. They are built to do hard work, and should be sent out in the dull days when a customer has to be knocked down with hard facts, and kicked up with bankrupt reductions, and dragged to with irresistible slaughter of prices, before he will spend a cent.

That's the aim and end of an advertisement, my son, and if you ever open a store don't try to get them to come when they are already sticking out of the windows, but give them your advertisement right between the eyes in the dull season, and you will wax rich and own a fast horse, and perhaps be able to smoke a good cigar once or twice a year. Write this down, where you'll find over it every day. The time to draw business is when you want business, and not when you have more business than you can attend to already. — Billy Post Post.

The newspapers paid as postage last year $1,839,592. The reduction of postage on second-class matter will, it is estimated, have the effect to keep about a million dollars at home, where it will do the most good.

Edward D. Clark, of Vicksburg, Miss., nominated for Assistant Secretary of the Interior, is a member in very high standing of the bar of Mississippi, and has practiced before the Supreme Court of the United States. He is said to be a man of great legal learning and force of character, who has been so wedded to his profession that he has steadfastly declined to have any connection with politics, although holding strong Democratic opinions. — Montgomery Advertiser.

The host of army officers at Washington, with influence at their backs, who have been leading in fashionable society for several years, have been ordered to their regiments. In this there is general acquiescence, except among the officers concerned. The officers to take their places have not been designated as yet. As may be imagined the move has caused a flutter of excitement in army circles. It will give a chance for a holiday to some of the hard-worked officers at frontier posts. — Montgomery Advertiser.

Sheriff Appointed.

Mr. James T. Golden, late sheriff of Cheburne county, died nearly two weeks ago, but there were no active applications until yesterday when the Governor appointed William A. Stephens to the position. He is an energetic and capable young man, who had filled the position of deputy sheriff. — Montgomery Advertiser.

A prize of $400, offered by the French Government for some certain test of death, to prevent people from being buried alive, has been given to a physician, who says that in holding the hand of the supposed dead person in a strong light, if living a scorch, there is seen where the fingers touch, showing a continuous circulation of the blood, no scarlet being seen if dead.

The Republican.

MARCH 25, 1885.

The Gadsden News has been enlarged. This is a fine showing these hard times.

The President continues to make excellent appointments, in most cases surprising the machine politicians and professional office seekers.

About every town small people may be found who imagine that "the cuckoo of the world" is "the cuckoo of the world," when in fact the world is not concerning itself in the least about them or their trivial affairs.

The Alabama Press Association meets in Talladega April 7th. President Stanley writes us as if there would be a large attendance. The Association will attend the New Orleans Exposition in a body after a two days session in Talladega.

The President's first appointment to a postmastership in Alabama is made from the ranks of the newspaper men. The appointee is the genial and clever Dr. Grubbs of the Decatur News and the fat post-office that he gets is that of Decatur. We are glad of this. Bro. Grubbs can now afford to wear a clean shirt at the Press Association meeting in Talladega.

The Good-goodies are making considerable fuss over the appointment of an "improper person" named Higgins to be appointment clerk in the Treasury Department. There seems to be no special grounds of objection to Higgins, except that he is a working Democrat and not quite up to the regulation Sunday school standard, but so far the Administration has shown no disposition to remove the appointment. Wicked Administration! Unhappy Good-goodies!

It looks as if nothing can avert a great war between Russia and England, which may involve other nations before it is over. Such a war would be once in the depression in this country and set everything off on a boom. We do not look upon war as a calamity when viewed from the "standard human standpoint" and therefore shall not indulge in any foolishness over the prospect of this one. If it must come through circumstances over which we have no control we shall accept the resulting benefits to this country without indulging in any sentimental regrets.

"The Augusta News" says: Montgomery, Ala., is about to do herself the honor of electing Mr. Warren D. Brown mayor. There is no better material in all the State for a first class mayor than Warren Brown, and the Evening News hereby sends congratulations in advance.

Mr. Brown is part of the fine timber that the Republican office has turned out. He served his apprenticeship in this office. It was here that he got his start in the race of life and his career has been marked with pride by the Republican since he left it. As the years have passed his increased fame and honor. He has been elected Montgomery contains no man more than he, no citizen was more higher and we hope the Augusta News may prove correct in its surmise that he is to be the mayor of the capital city.

More than one of the loan companies operating in this State have withdrawn since the passage of the two per cent. tax bill, but the Corbin Banking Co. of New York, represented by Messrs. Stevenson & Grant, will continue to do business in the State. At one time the company came very near withdrawing from the State. It did so once under the rate of discount 2 1/2 per cent., which borrowers readily paid. Having secured a fund in this way sufficient to test the constitutionality of the law, it has voluntarily returned to the old rates in order to save the passage of the two per cent. bill. This we regard as commendable in the Company, especially since it no longer has any competition in the State. With the additional rate of 2 1/2 per cent. discount was in force, however, it must have cost the farmers thousands of dollars. Thus they have been spared to raise the money to meet a measure put upon them by their own Legislature. This experience will serve to show the people how necessary it is to be careful in the selection of their law-makers.

New Appointments.

The President has appointed Edwin J. Phelps to be minister to England, Robert M. McLane, Maryland, minister to France, Geo. H. Pendleton, Ohio, minister to Germany, Henry R. Jackson, Georgia, minister to Mexico, S. S. Cox, New York, minister to Turkey, Henry L. Muldrow, of Mississippi, to be assistant Secretary of the Interior, Wm. A. J. Parks, of Illinois, to be commissioner of the general land office, Daniel McConville, of Ohio, to be auditor of the Treasury for postoffice department. He has also nominated the following to be postmasters: Mrs. E. S. Herbert, Newberry, S. C., D. J. Auld, Sumter, S. C., W. D. Welch, Gainesville, Ga., J. D. McCollum, Newnan, Ga., L. H. Grubbs, Decatur, Ala.

In stringing times like these the tendency is toward strict economy and retrenchment. This is proper and right within reasonable bounds, but sometimes the economy of the rich is the greatest cruelty to the poor. We should not forget that a condition of things which pinch the comparatively well-to-do, bears most heavily upon the poor, and we should remember that if the rich are inconvenienced by the stringency of the times, the poor may be actually suffering. Now is the time above all others when those able to do so should give out work to those who live by labor. This is a species of charity more acceptable to those who need it than gifts. About a town like Jacksonville there are many worthy ladies who live by the labor of their hands. Those whom God has blessed with means should see that they are not deprived of this means of living through the economies of the well-to-do. Let the Christian women of Jacksonville look into this matter and see that none are without work who are able and willing to work. Let us all take the cases of the poor to ourselves, and our hearts will soon melt in tender sympathy for them. There is nothing on earth so deserving of sympathy as a noble woman, pressed down under responsibilities she finds herself unable to bear and forced by difficulties she cannot see how to meet. Let us get who are too timid to make her condition known to her friends. Every community has just such cases, and it is a sad reflection on investigation, tender, Christian sympathy and aid. We repeat, let the Christian women of Jacksonville look into this matter. Don't fold this paper and forget what we have said, nor mentally impose upon some one else a duty thus brought to your notice. Think of all your neighbors in this connection, and if among them you find one that you think may possibly come under this head, do your duty by that one as God has blessed you with the ability to help.

WEST VIRGINIA FAMINE.

Great Suffering from Lack of Food—Heavy Death List.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., March 25.—So great is the suffering of the people in the drought afflicted district that the authorities and the people of Kanawha county were appealed to yesterday, and quantities of provisions have been ordered sent by the County Court for the relief of the distressed. Tales of suffering from women and children and of men's woe here from poverty of Kanawha, Calhoun and Boone counties. The mountain people in those counties are unable to purchase either food or seed, and as the season for planting is near things look decidedly serious.

There are no steam mills in the country and no water mills can be operated, the little water in the streams is frozen nearly to the bottom. Corn and wheat are rotting in the fields, and the people are suffering from lack of food and clothing. The water they obtain is so filthy that it is unfit for cooking. There is a vast deal of sickness and the mortality is alarmingly large. Medical aid is hard to get and the stock of drugs in the small villages is exhausted. The bad roads add to the difficulties in the way of giving aid. Everything nearly must be carried on pack-horses. Some have urged an extra session of the Legislature to extend aid. There is no demand for outside assistance, as the State is able and willing to meet all demands.

Zach. Box, of Bullock county, was shot three times by unknown parties a few days ago. Box was in the habit of beating his wife until she separated from him, but on his promise to do better in the future, returned to him. He did not keep his promise, and the shooting is supposed to be a reminder that the people of that section must improve of wife-beating. He was not seriously hurt and has since left the county.

Grace Greenwood says that "literary women live happier lives than fashionable women." It may be. Most literary women are married to editors.—Philadelphia Call.

A Kansas editor who started a little paper five years ago is now a millionaire. Nothing is impossible where industry and economy are combined with good looks. He married a rich wife.

"I am a deep lover of poetry of heaven," writes an Alabama editor. There are only two things which render this statement apocryphal: the first is that he is an editor, and the second is that he comes from Alabama.—Burlington Free Press.

Gen. Johnson at the White House.

A Washington special of the 18th says: It was the first time Gen. Johnson had visited the White House since 1860, when he called upon President Buchanan, and was shown by him the ordinance of secession then just adopted by the South Carolina legislature, and he found that at the White House, like everything else under the government, had changed and improved a great deal in twenty-four years. After leaving the White House, Gen. Johnson went to the Riggs to see his old friend, Senator Hampton.

Knew Him.

Agitated man to acquaintance: "By gracious, did you see me rush up just then and shake hands with that fellow?" "Yes." "Well, I did it under misapprehension. I wouldn't have shaken hands with him for anything." "Why, don't you know him?" "Yes, I know him, but I owe him ten dollars."

At Home to Uncle Sam Randall.

The appointment of Malcolm Hay, of Pittsburg, to the office of first assistant postmaster general is merely another sign that this administration is always at home to Uncle Sam Randall when he wants anything. Mr. Hay is one of Uncle Sam's enthusiastic disciples in the applied sciences of politics and statesmanship, and these two are so intimate that they have been known frequently to drink soda water from the same tumbler.—Philadelphia Press.

Last Saturday night at No. 2 of the Woodstock Iron Company, Aniston, John Hartfield, colored, aged 19 years, was working on the top of the back, and complaining that he was sick started to walk down the stairway. Turning giddy, it is supposed from gas, he made a misstep, fell on the bell of the furnace and was suffocated. He had been working there for some time, and his last companion working with him lost his presence of mind by the horror of the scene, and instead of trying to save the unfortunate man, yelled for help, which came too late.

Not So She Expected.

Your letter received. In reply I am happy to say that Parker Hair Balsam did much more for me than you said it would, or than I expected. Gratuitous.

Mr. H. Sampel, Ottawa, Kansas, writes: "Dr. S. B. HARTMAN & Co., Columbus, O.—Gentlemen: I have suffered for several years, have tried every thing and many physicians, and all have failed. I went to Pittsburgh, and while there fell on the street, my breath seemed to leave my lungs, and numbers overpowered me. I determined to give Dr. S. B. Hartman's medicine a trial. I took four bottles of each, and my trouble left, never, I hope, to return. I left Pittsburgh three weeks ago for Kansas, and thought, as I was going to a new country, I had better take a bottle of MAXALIN with me on account of bad weather. I arrived here with one half bottle. I found one of my friends in a pretty bad condition. The doctors were treating her for chills and fever. I did not know what her trouble was, though I persuaded her to take the MAXALIN. She did not take it the first day she was up doing her work. Now this seems strange, but it is, nevertheless, a candid truth. She used it all, and has never had cause to lie down during the day since she took the first three doses."

A Case that was Pronounced Incurable.

Miss C. C. Peck, 514 Jackson street, Milwaukee, Wis., writes: "Dr. S. B. HARTMAN & Co.—Gentlemen: I take great pleasure in stating to you the benefit I received from your valuable PERUNA. I have been suffering for about fifteen years with a severe cough and bronchitis, and different physicians and great quantities of medicine, but received no benefit whatever. Dr. Fox, of this city, claimed I had consumption, and there was no hope for me excepting better. I was so bad I could not stir, and continually, Mrs. Henry Ellis, a friend of mine, induced me to try your PERUNA. I am happy to say I began to notice a change after I had taken my second bottle. I took eight bottles in all, and now I feel like a new woman. It has been a great blessing to me. I think I would be in my grave now. It is a wonderful remedy, and I recommend it to all my friends." Messrs. Baker Bros., Mt. Vernon, O., write: "Your PERUNA sells well. Customers speak of it as being a good medicine."

Mr. Daniel R. Spay, Portsmouth, C.

write: "I have a good trade in PERUNA. It sells well and gives satisfaction."

MONOMANIA.

The above disease of the brain is of more frequent occurrence than is generally supposed, and is a most terrible affliction, being numbered among all classes of insanity. In some cases it might be classed as a fanciful chimera of the brain, the mind seeming to be on the lookout for some new idea or delusion, which really has no foundation in fact. It seems to be an inherited disease, and is often passed on from father to son, and from mother to daughter. The intellect of the mind becomes apparently overpowered by the delusion and remaining in a kind of quasi-state until the false idea becomes a positive conviction. Delusion, and the consequent and unexpected concentration of intellectual forces, are frequent causes of monomania. A man's who receives such a mania, and receives information relating to his affairs with another person, which, although without any foundation in fact, is revealed over and over in his excited mind until jealousy is thoroughly aroused, a species of monomania being the result.

These affections have become very annoying and dangerous, and if not relieved are apt to end in an insane condition of the brain, producing family quarrels, dissensions, accusations, and even between man and wife, lover and sweetheart. They should all be treated as early as possible, and the most speedy and certain remedy is the use of B. B. B., which produces an immediate transformation through the blood, the effects of which are felt and acknowledged before using one bottle.

The patients are all easily aroused on certain subjects, and although ridiculous in the extreme, cannot be convinced of their error. One party may presume that the whole human family are afflicted with "nutritional poison," while yet another may argue that "putrid mixtures" are poisoning the blood of the nation, and that revelations from the Almighty placed him in a special position to offer the only antidote, while all else are frauds. These conditions emanate from the use of honest and pure motives, but are powerless to throw off the shackles which bind them. The friends and relatives of all such should urge them to use B. B. B. and be cured, before more serious results, leading to insanity, are reached. The actual and positive use of B. B. B. of such nature to convince any one of the unparalleled power it has over all blood poisons, scrofulousness, scaling and taints, kidney and rheumatic troubles, catarrhs, better chronic ulcers and sores, &c., &c. All these accumulating evils are removed by doctors, lawyers, preachers, educators, editors, farmers, and men and women here in Atlanta, where every witness can be seen and talked with.

The people of Jacksonville grow more public - spirited and enterprising each year. This is a hopeful sign for the town. It is by co-operation and public enterprise alone that towns are built and communities flourish. No place in this favored country has so many natural advantages as Jacksonville. It only remains for our people to utilize these advantages and bring them to the attention of the world, to have here a progressive, active, pushing, busy little city in only a few years. At a future time we shall note some of these advantages. Meantime let us keep alive the public spirit which augurs so well for the future of our town.

Small Loans.

In addition to larger loans which we are now daily negotiating through the Corbin Banking Co., of New York, we are now prepared to negotiate, through another medium in New York, fifty thousand dollars in small loans, ranging from three hundred to one hundred dollars, on one, two, three, four or five years time, with mortgage on farm lands as security. These small loans are quickly negotiated. In securing these loans it is necessary for us to trace title to the lands offered as security as far back as twenty-five years, and hence parties applying for loans should bring all the old deeds to the land they can find. Attention to this will save much trouble and secure a more speedy negotiation of the loan in every instance.

We took a short run on business to Oxford Thursday and found our friends of that active and business little city no whit depressed over the hard times. Indeed, the spirit of the people was one of buoyancy over the condition of trade and of bright hope for the future. In this, plucky Oxford sets an example worthy the imitation of other towns "It is better to laugh than to cry." Half the hard times are purely imaginary. Lack of confidence has more to do with the present depression than lack of money by long odds.

Harris and Cleveland

WASHINGTON, March 25.—Senator Harris denies that he had a stormy interview with the President, but the National Republican this morning, however, insists that the scene was one of considerable interest, and says: "The interview between Harris and the President is said to have been even spicier than at first reported. He went to the White House to protest against the nomination of Porter. He was very pronounced in his language, and was much surprised to find the President equally so. The Senator gave a very poor account of Porter. The President retorted by saying that he had heard good reports of him from sources quite as reliable as the Senator. The Senator warned the President that the appointment of Porter would give Tennessee to the Republicans, and the President said that that should be the result it would be the fault of the Democrats of the State and not his. Finally the President gave the Senator to understand that he did not intend to be swayed by the prejudices or personal dislikes of 'politicians,' but would make nominations on his own judgment. The Senator went away with fire in his eye, but thoroughly convinced that the country has a President 'with a head of his own.'"

His Loss was Her Gain.

"Well madam," said a fashionable physician to a wealthy lady patient, "if you don't like my prescriptions, perhaps you had better try Parker's Tonic, or some other 'quack stuff.'" "You don't mean it, Doctor," she answered, "but your advice may be good for all that. Sometimes what you call 'quack stuff' is the best and most scientific medicine of all." She got a bottle of Parker's Tonic and it cured her of neuralgia arising from disordered stomach and nerves. She told her friends, and now they all keep a doctor at home in the form of Parker's Tonic.

A Bargain.

Just received at Crow Bros., a large lot of Ladies' Gents and Misses fine shoes, all styles.

Parties who find ores, other than iron ore, in the county, will do well to send specimens to this office.

Ten Island Dots.

Rev. Bob Trotter preached one of the best sermons last Sunday we ever listened to. Nearly all the prominent members were present and were very much interested.

The farmers are all getting up before day light and are determined to come out of debt by the 25th day of December 1885.

Mr. S. Griffin is now building him a new house where the old one was burned down.

Dr. Edon has located in this community. It never gets too dark nor rains too hard for him to go to see a sick man. His daughter has a splendid school at the Akridge school house.

Miss Mattie Griffin has a very large school at Six Foot school house.

Miss Maggie Lester of Jacksonville has a school at Ohatchie church.

This country is in a flourishing condition. We hope more good people will locate with us.

M. H. Griffin has returned from Rome, to spend spring and summer season. He says he is going to make a little crop, fish and boat ride on Coosa river and 1st of Sept. will return to Rome, Ga., for fall and winter season.

The work on Coosa river is progressing finely. The gates will soon be put in lock 2 and 3, then the steam boats will sail through to lock 4.

A Boy.

The child can't sleep. An army of worms is eating it up. One dose of Shiner's Indian Vermifuge will destroy them and save its life. Only 25 cents a bottle or five for one dollar.

Full line of table linens 10c. Sheeting closing out at cost, at Ullman Bros., Anniston.

Fortunes for Farmers and Mechanics.

Thousands of dollars can be saved by using proper judgment in taking care of the health of yourself and family. If you are Bilious, have a low complexion, poor appetite, low and depressed spirits, and generally debilitated, do not delay a moment, but go at once and procure a bottle of those wonderful Electric Bitters, which never fail to cure, and that for the trifling sum of fifty cents—Tribune. Sold by all druggists at 50c.

Don't fail to call on Ullman Bros., Anniston, and you will save money.

A Little Gold was Spent.

Mr. Z. A. Clark, of Atlanta, Ga., in speaking of $450 in gold, desires to say to the readers of this paper, that the whole of the above amount was spent in a fruitless effort in finding relief from a terrible Blood Poison affecting his body, limbs and nose—presenting ugly running ulcers. He is now sound and well, having been cured by the most speedy and wonderful remedy ever before known, and any interested party who may need a Blood Purifier will learn from him that three bottles of B. B. B. restored his appetite, healed all ulcers, relieved his kidneys, and added twenty one pounds to his weight in thirty days.

A full line of gents hats, underwear, and shirts at cost, at Ullman Bros., Anniston.

A Word of Caution.

As is usually the case where an article of true merit has attained a world-wide reputation by its wonderful results, as the celebrated Electric Bitters have done, certain unprincipled parties have endeavored to imitate them, and expect to induce an unsuspecting public to purchase their fraudulent wares. Ask your druggist for the genuine Electric Bitters, that are guaranteed to cure, and take no others. Sold by all druggists at 50c.

Elegant House for Sale.

The heirs of the late Mrs. E. L. Grant will sell the family residence in Jacksonville at a bargain, for purpose of division. The building is of brick and contains eight rooms. It sits on an acre lot, about midway, facing South Main street, within a minute's walk of the public square, and has choice flower yard and shrubbery in front. The house is surrounded by fruit trees of the very finest varieties. The interior finish of the rooms is elegant, being furnished with marble mantles &c. All necessary outbuildings. It will be sold for less than the building itself cost. It would make a most desirable summer residence, Jacksonville being the healthiest spot in the State according to official report of the State Health Officer, and beautiful beyond description for its natural scenery. Sulphur, Chalybeate, Epsom, Freestone, Limestone, Magnesia and other mineral waters in the town or within a short drive of same. For further particulars address L. W. GRANT, Jacksonville, Ala.
